Jason has two main principles that guide him in financial advising. The first is an unwavering commitment to the protection of his client's financial future. He knows that they worked hard to prepare, and refuses to dishonor their work by not making sure that hard work is safe and sound. Secondly, Jason is driven to pool the resources of his support staff, legal aid and research to find unique solutions to the financial struggles we face in our current economy. Each client has unique concerns and he is convinced if you work hard you can build a plan that helps them address those.

Jason was born in Wichita Falls, TX where he was an honors graduate of both Wichita Falls High School as well as Midwestern State University. Jason is proud to have grown up in a small town, and feels it helped instill a strong passion for family, community responsibility and hard work. His education in finance and family studies helped build a firm foundation to serve families in their retirement planning/maintenance.

Jason and wife Julie enjoy volunteering at the local church she grew up in. Julie was a choir teacher at L.D. Bell High School in Bedford, TX until she was promoted to the full-time mom of Grayson. Jason loves golfing, cooking breakfast and a good John Grisham novel.
